

98,000

patients are killed annually by medical errors.

Blake Fought was one of those 98,000 people.

Blake Fought, 19, of Blacksburg, VA, was about to be released from the hospital after recovering from an illness that required a central line IV. Unfortunately, the nurse had never been trained to remove the IV and did not follow proper procedures, causing bubbles to enter Blake's brain, heart and blood vessels. He died in front of the nurses and his own parents – who were at the hospital to take their son home.

TORT LAW CHANGES WON'T FIX HEALTH CARE.
TELL CONGRESS TO PUT PATIENTS FIRST.

There are 98,000 reasons why you should.

Formerly the Association of Trial Lawyers of America (ATLA®)
Formerly the Association of Trial Lawyers of America

www.98000reasons.org